Title of the Ph.D. Thesis

- Effect of additives on the mechanical behavior of synthesized polymer composites

Title of the M.Tech Thesis

- Experimental Investigations on Wire Electrochemical Micromachining
Supervisor: Prof M.Hameedullah Co-Supervisor: Prof. A.H.Ansari
In this work I have designed and developed a setup for machining metal with the help of wire electrode on the principle of electrolysis and carried experiments to study the effect of various input parameters on the metal removal rate and overcut.

Project Undertaken

- Fabrication of Production Model of prototype Magnetic Separator.
Supervisor: Prof.A.H.Ansari.
This project deals with the design and fabrication of prototype magnetic separator which is used in the industry to separate magnetic particles from the non-magnetic ones. This project has been successfully employed to serve the said purpose.
- Design &fabrication of electrochemical machining setup and study of the performance characteristics.
Supervisor: Prof M. Hameedullah
In this project, design and fabrication of Electrochemical machining set-up was carried out. Also some of the process parameters of the process is also experimentally investigated and studied on this set-up.
